

The Economics of Sustainable Development

Contents

Introduction Delphine Lautier

Part One. Climate Change Policies

Ch. 1. The Precautionary Principle and the Evaluation of Environmental Policies Olivier Guéant

Ch. 2. Open Questions on the Economics of Climate Change Policy Roger Guesnerie

Ch. 3. Discounting the Future: the Case of Climate Change Ivar Ekeland

Ch. 4. Intergenerational Discounting

Intergenerational discounting: a new intuitive approach Ussif R. Sumaila and Carl Walters

Remembering the future, a commentary on "Intergenerational discounting: a new intuitive approach" Michael H. Prager and Kyle W. Shertzer

Making future generations count: Comment on "Remembering the future" Ussif R. Sumaila and Carl Walters

Part Two. Economic Concepts and Methodology

Ch. 1. The Precautionary Principle as a Social Norm Olivier Godard

Ch. 2. Going with Coase beyond Coase: the Dynamic Approach to the Internalization of External Effects Jan Horst Keppler

Ch. 3. Mean Field Games and Oil production Olivier Guéant, Jean-Michel Lasry and Pierre-Louis Lions

Part Three. Models and Applications

Ch. 1. Uncertainties and Risks in Water Resources Management Alain Bensoussan and Nadir Farhi

Ch. 2. Optimal Energy Investment and R&D Strategies to Stabilize Atmospheric Greenhouse Gas Concentrations V. Bosetti, C. Carraro, E. Massetti, A. Sgobbi and M. Tavoni

Ch. 3. The Social Costs of Greenhouse Gas Emissions: An Expected Value Approach Samuel Fankhauser

Ch. 4. Assessing Sustainability, a Comprehensive Wealth Accounting Measure – Application to Mozambique Pierre-Noël Giraud and Timothée Ollivier

Part Four. Carbon Markets

Ch. 1. Carbon Market and Climate Negotiations Christian de Perthuis and Suzanne Shaw

Ch. 2. Price Caps and Price Floors in Climate Policy Cédric Philibert

Part Five. Socially Responsible Investment

Ch. 1. Socially Responsible Investing: Myths and Realities Gunther Capelle-Blancard and Stéphanie Monjon

Ch. 2. SRI as Sustainable and Responsible Insurance: Responsible Investing is worth a Premium Stéphane Voisin and Hubert Jeaneau

Ch. 3. History, Challenges and Limitations of the "Corporate Social Responsibility" and "Sustainable Development" Coupling Michel Capron and Françoise Quairel

Biographies